COWING COWED.

HE ATTEMPTED TO NAIL UP THE BRIDGE WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

His Bluff was Promptly Called and He Laid Down his Hand.

Quite a flurry of excitement was occasioned Wednesday evening by an attempt of Mr. J. P. Cowing, of the King Bridge Company, to nail up the St. Clair street bridge to prevent the passage of pedestrians. It came to the ears of Esquire J. L. Rodman early in the evening that Mr. Cowing would close the bridge that night at 9 o'clock, and he promptly informed Mr. John E. Miles, chairman of the Bridge Committee. Mr. Miles hunted up Councilman Ben Marshall and together with Councilman Ellwanger and Mr. W. C. Herndon they repaired to the bridge where they found a gang of hands, with their tools, awaiting orders. In a little while Mr. Cowing appeared when he was informed by Councilman Marshall that they had learned he intended to close up the bridge. He said that was his intention, and was immediately informed by Mr. Miles that it could not be done, that the committee had possession and intended to hold it; that he would arrest any of Cowing's hands and him also if the attempt was made. Mr. Cowing then said "Mr. Miles, you had better go and get out an injunction to prevent me," but was informed that if he wished an injunction he had better go and get one; that the committee proposed to keep the bridge open and any attempt upon his part to close it would cause blood to be spilled. After some further parley Cowing left and a guard of four policemen was placed on the bridge for the night and there was no further trouble.

Cowing wanted Mr. Seckner, of the Construction Company, to close the bridge Saturday afternoon when the sidewalk was completed, which he refused to do and some sharp words passed between them. Mr. Seckner informing Cowing that the Construction Company had charged of the bridge yet awhile, that he had agreed to give the people the use of that walk for a consideration, and proposed to keep it open as long as he was in charge. The trouble Wednesday night was occasioned by the bridge committee's informing Cowing, as the representative of the King Bridge Company, what Mr. McLeod said would have to be done to the South abutment to render it secure. Cowing wanted the committee to give him in writing what they wished done, which they declined to do saying Mr. Nelson, the engineer, was employed for the purpose of telling him what must be done. Cowing expressed himself as satisfied with Mr. McLeod's opinion and it was supposed everything was all right and his attempt to close the bridge was somewhat of a surprise.

The bridge committee have paid Mr. Seckner seventy-five dollars for finishing up the east sidewalk in advance of the balance of the bridge, so that it can be used for pedestrian travel, and have signed a contract holding the bridge company harmless for any accident that may happen to persons passing over the bridge while the construction company's hands are at work, and therefore have a right to the use of the walk which they propose to defend.

Oratorical Entertainment.

The oratorical entertainment given by Messrs. Martin D. Hardin and James H. Swango, in the Hall of the House of Representatives on Wednesday evening was largely attended. Both young gentlemen acquitted themselves so handsomely that the audience could well understand why they had carried off the prize in every contest in which they had engaged and showed their appreciation by generous applause.

Gov. John Young Brown presided and introduced both young gentlemen with neat little speeches, taking occasion to refer feelingly to Centre College, from which he graduated in 1855, saying he regarded all who claimed that venerable institution of learning as their alma mater—as these young men did—with a feeling of almost kinship. The programme embraced music as well as oratory. Prof. Wayland Graham presided at the piano, and Mr. R. A. VanDerveer sang a solo, was followed by Mr. Swango's oration; Mr. Walter Franklin next sang and was followed by the address of Mr. Hardin, while Mr. Will H. McClure closed the entertainment with another solo.

Too Late in the Session.

An excellent bill for the protection of fish in the waters of the Kentucky is pending before the Legislature, but the time is so short and the opposition so strong that it will hardly get through.

Nervous Prostration.

A large manufacturer, whose affairs were very much embarrassed, and who was overworked and broken down with nervous exhaustion, went to a celebrated specialist. He was told that the only thing needed was to be relieved of care and worry, and have a change of thought. This doctor was more considerate of his patient's health than of his financial circumstances. He ought to have advised him to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the best remedy for nervous prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, headache, ill effects of spirits, tobacco, coffee, opium, &c. Thousands testify to cures. Books and trial bottles free at J. W. Gayle's.

Stole Thirty Dollars.

A negro boy by the name of John Arthur entered the residence of Mrs. S. P. Browder on Saturday evening and stole thirty dollars from a pocket book which was secreted in a bed.

Arthur saw Mrs. Browder take the pocket book from under the head of the bed to pay him a small sum money and replace it again, and watching until he saw the family go in to supper, he slipped in the front way and secured the contents of the purse. When Mrs. Browder discovered her loss she at once suspected the boy, had him arrested, and twenty dollars of the amount was found on his person.

Has Two Churches.

Rev. Willis L. Ways, formerly of this city, has been called to the pastoral care of the Beechland Baptist Church at Pleasure Ridge Park, Jefferson county, and will make his home at that place. He will also preach for the Mt. Tabor Church in Garrard county, beginning on the first Sunday in March.

Grasp the Opportunity.

Our enterprising druggist, P. H. CARPENTER, cordially invites you to try a 25c. bottle of Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure. This new remedy acts quickly on the bronchial tubes, throat and lungs, lessens the desire to cough and heals mucous membrane. If consumption it will cure you. Pleasant to take. The children like it.

"The Pay Train"
Drew an immense crowd to the Opera House last evening. It is a comedy drama and abounds in startling situations. There is a murder and a robbery in the first act, an attempted murder and capture of the robbers in the third act, a realistic boiler explosion in the fourth act which sends everybody in the play more or less bother, skywards to his doom. The explosion is made very realistic by the hot water and steam pouring out of the real boiler. A genuine locomotive is one of the features of the play. Miss Florence Bindley is the heroine of the play. She used to be known as Baby Bindley and has not forgotten how to dance and play on a number of instruments. She makes a charming little soubrette, quick in her movements, vivacious in manner, and dressed as a boy she is about as cute as anything seen on the stage in some time. Krew A. Morton was quite clever in the characters of Reuben Cole and Charles Burton. He has improved wonderfully since last seen here. Maggie Fielding, as Bridget McGonigle, made quite a hit. Her brogue is excellent and her performance was clever throughout. Miss Nettie Franklin made a good housekeeper in the character of Rosina Stevens. Fin Reynolds' work, as Frank Hale, is to be commended. He and Miss Bindley were applauded for their singing. "The Pay Train," if one may judge by the rapturous applause, made a great big hit and is likely to do a big week's business, as popular prices and this kind of a show seem to be what the people want. — Baltimore Sun, October 23d.

At the Opera House, Monday, February 26th.

Mr. C. F. Davis, editor of the Bloomfield, Iowa, farmer, says: "I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all sufferers with colds and croup. I have used it in my family for the past two years and have found it the best I have ever used for the purpose for which it is intended. 50 cent bottles for sale by P. H. CARPENTER, South Side Druggist."

Deaths.

BLACKBURN—Miss Daisy Blackburn, daughter of U. S. Marshal James Blackburn, and who is well known in this city, died at the residence of her father, near Spring Station, on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. Miss Blackburn was about twenty-seven years of age, and her death is a great blow to a large circle of friends all over the State. The remains will be interred in our cemetery at noon to-day and all the friends of the family are invited to be present.

THOMASSON—Mr. S. L. Thomasson, who was stricken with paralysis on Thursday of last week, never rallied and died from the effect of the stroke at his home near Switzer, Saturday morning. The deceased was the father of Mr. Z. T. Thomasson, of this city, and was highly respected in the neighborhood in which he lived. For many years he had been a consistent member of the Stamping Ground Baptist Church, from which his funeral took place Sunday afternoon.

Births.

MOORE—In Bellepoint, February 18th, 1894, to Mr. Frank Moore and wife, a son.

SATTERWHITE—In Bellepoint, on Monday, February 19th, 1894, to Mr. Bud Satterwhite and wife, a daughter.

The County Teacher's Association will convene in the city of Frankfort, Saturday, March 3d, at 10 o'clock, in the court-house. It would seem from the nature of the case that teachers need no persuasion to heed this call; and yet when we seriously consider the matter we find many who profess to have the interests of the rising generation at heart careless and unconcerned in regard to this, one of the most important factors in matters of education.

Fellow Teachers: We may never expect to receive better pay, to have regular attendance or proper grading until our own selfish aims are lost sight of, and like men and women arise as one to a full sense of the responsible position we occupy. Not only so, we must awaken the dormant powers of trustees and patrons to a full sense of the duties required at their hands by our own earnest enthusiasm in the premises. Then, and not until then, may we hope for teaching to take rank as it deserves.

Let trustees and patrons to heed this call. Leave the hogs, horses, cattle and tobacco one day for the sake of your children—immortal souls intrusted to your care—and come to Frankfort and assist in devising ways and means by which your offspring may be benefited, you will then fully understand the object of these meetings and be encouraged to do your duty more effectually.

Crossing the Bridge.

Saturday afternoon the flooring of the east side of the St Clair street bridge was completed and in accordance with a contract between Mr. John E. Miles and Mr. Seckner, of the construction company, was thrown open to the public, and people have been streaming across it ever since, except for a few hours at a time, while heavy timbers were being lowered from the traveler by workmen taking that structure down, when the ferry would again be brought into use. The balance of the iron members of the bridge, except a few ornamental pieces, were put in the first of the week and the workmen have been engaged since then in riveting the joints of the top chord and laying the floor in the wagon way.

Mr. John F. Buckley set a force of hands to work Monday tearing away what was left of the old bridge and little besides the piers now remains.

On Saturday Mr. John MacLeod, an engineer of long experience, came up from Louisville and examined the south abutment and gave it his opinion that the cracks in the wing walls and the abutment proper were caused by dumping wet earth in behind them, recommended the removal of the earth and that the filling be of broken stone, or that an additional wall be built behind the abutment, and that the portion of the walls cracked be taken down and rebuilt. He did not think the walls in any immediate danger of falling and were safe unless damaged in the future, as the foundation of the abutment was perfect, the walls no having sunk.

The construction company will complete the bridge in about two weeks but it will not be thrown open to wagon traffic for some time yet owing to the repairs having to be made on the abutment. The bridge is a handsome structure, very roomy, the side-walks being especially so, and were it not for the dissatisfaction occasioned by the cracks in the walls of the south abutment and the knowledge that the bridge is lighter than the one we were led to expect to receive, the people generally would be very proud of it.

The Modern Invalid

Has tastes medicinally, in keeping with others luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; if constipated he uses the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

Washington's Birthday.

The usual national salute was fired at noon on Thursday in honor of Washington's birthday, and the Legislature met in joint session in the Hall of the House to listen to an oration on the character of our first President by Hon. W. B. Hayward, Senator from Hardin, Grayson and Bullitt. The address was very highly complimented.

At night the Assembly Ball Club gave a hop at the Capital Hotel which was the most successful and largely attended of the season.

The public schools were closed both Thursday and Friday.

An Unfounded Rumor.

A rumor gained circulation on the streets Thursday, about noon, that Charles Mitchell and Jim Corbett had had another fight in Chicago, and the Englishman, resorting to a knife or pistol, had killed his recent conqueror. It caused as much anxious inquiry as if the President had been assassinated, but was soon discovered to be without foundation.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class mailable matter.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub.

FRANKFORT, FEBRUARY 24, 1894.

Out of Whole Cloth.

In his testimony given in the Pollard-Breckinridge case before a commissioner at Lexington on Friday of last week, Catesby Hawkins, formerly of this county, made statements in regard to a mock marriage between Miss Pollard and Mr. Alex. Julian, of this county, which took place at Squire S. M. Tinsley's, near Graefenburg, some years ago, which are unreasonable and are pronounced false by those who know the facts in the case. In the first place the marriage was a piece of fun gotten up by a few young people on Christmas day, with no evil intent, and had been forgotten by most of those who witnessed it until revived by gossips of the neighborhood since the woman in the case has been so prominently before the public. In the next place Squire Tinsley and other members of his family say that Hawkins was not there at the time, and was never a visitor at the house, and could only know from hearsay about an occurrence he attempts to describe with minute detail. It is not reasonable to suppose that Squire Tinsley, with a good Christian woman for a wife and a family of grown daughters whose good name is dear to him, would permit any such proceedings in his home as Hawkins says took place there, and he must certainly have been drunk when he swore to such an outrageous statement. It is a shame and a disgrace that the characters of good women should be smirched in such a manner, and the wretch who would wantonly do so should be made to feel the strong arm of the law.

Squire Tinsley has asked the publication of the following card in relation to the matter:

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 20.—I have read with astonishment and scorn the statements of one Catesby Hawkins, a witness for Col. Breckinridge in the Pollard suit, to the effect that he was present at my residence and knew that, after a mock marriage ceremony, Miss Pollard and young Julian were taken and put to bed together. This is an unmitigated, contemptible lie. Mr. Hawkins never was at my house in his life. His statements are manufactured out of whole cloth and ought to damn him forever. Such a witness will certainly injure Col. Breckinridge's case.

As to the alleged mock marriage, it was a mere joke and a farce which has been distorted into a scandal and slander indirectly against my household.

Unreliable as Mr. Hawkins is known to be throughout this community, I am at a loss to understand why he should swear to such falsehoods unless influenced by the hope of a storekeeper's place in this revenue district, which I am reliably informed was promised to him.

S. M. TINSLEY.

A Lively Mill.

A five round glove contest was fought at the intersection of Main and St. Clair streets Tuesday night between two boys about 12 years of age, for a purse of twenty-five cents. The kids punched each other at a lively rate, much to the amusement of a large crowd which gathered, but stood up and took their punishment like little men. At the end of the fifth round the referee decided it a draw and each of the young pugilists was given a quarter.

Called Council Proceedings.

TUESDAY, FEB. 20, '94.

Mayor Julian and all the members of the council were present. The Mayor explained the object of the meeting to be to take action in relation to the sale of the old bridge and stone piers which had been made to Mr. Jno. T. Buckley, who is now removing the material under a contract from the King Iron Bridge Company.

The matter was fully discussed by the different members of the council, it appearing that a resolution had been passed by the old council to place the stone in a retaining wall along the north side of Second street from Finkel's corner to the school property.

Messrs. L. F. Johnson, A. W. Overton, Geo. A. Lewis and Judge J. H. Lewis made remarks and, upon motion of Councilman Pruett, the matter was finally referred to a special committee for adjudication.

Mayor Julian appointed as the committee, Messrs. Pruett, Miles and Marshall, and they are to report to a future meeting of the council.

This being the only business before the council they then adjourned until the next regular meeting.

For Re-election.

Squire Pat. McDonald has announced himself as a candidate for re-election to the office of Justice of the Peace in this, the first, magisterial district. Mr. McDonald has held the position for the past sixteen years, has made a good officer and if continued in the position will discharge the duties as faithfully in the future as in the past.

Muscle and Vigor—A Difference.

Many muscular men succumb to fatigue borne with ease by persons far their inferiors in physical strength. Muscle does not imply vigor. In fact it is not difficult of proof that athletes do not live so long or enjoy as good health as the average individual who is vigorous—that is to say, whose digestion and sleep are unimpaired, whose nerves are tranquil, and who has no organic tendency to disease. These requisites of vigor are conferred upon those inherently weak, no less than upon those debilitated through wasting diseases, by a thorough, persistent course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and the leading national tonic, endorsed and recommended by physicians of eminence. It will not endow you with the muscle of a rosbett, but it will infuse energy into your system, and renew the active and healthful performance of its functions. It averts and cures malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints and overcomes dyspepsia, constipation, liver trouble and nervousness.

Heart Disease Curable.

The truth of this statement may be doubted by many, but when Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indian specialist, claims that heart disease is curable and proves it by thousands of testimonials of wonderful cures by his new heart cure, it attracts the attention of the millions suffering with short breath, palpitation, irregular pulse, wind in stomach, pain in side or shoulder, smothering spells, fainting, droopy, &c. A. F. Davis, Silver Creek, Nebraska, by using four bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, was completely cured after twelve years suffering from heart disease. This wonderful remedy is sold by J. W. Gayle. Books free.

Taking Evidence.

The attorneys in the Pollard-Breckinridge case were here on Tuesday and took the depositions of quite a number of persons residing in the Bridgeport and Graefenburg neighborhoods, but nothing of a startling nature was elicited. It was proven, however, that some of the statements made by Catesby Hawkins in Lexington on Friday were without foundation in fact.

Arm Bruised.

Mr. Chas. C. Furr was standing upon the new bridge Tuesday talking to Mr. J. P. Cowing, of the King Bridge Company, when a workman upon the bridge overhead let fall a hammer which struck Mr. Furr a glancing lick upon the left forearm, knocked off the skin and made an ugly bruise upon the arm.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, FEBRUARY 24, 1894.

Pea Ridge.

The weather has suited everyone for the past week, being of all kinds.

Miss Kate Tracy is lying very ill at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Ann Tracy.

Mr. Jim Tracy is steadily improving in health.

A member of the late Constitutional Convention, who now ably represents Anderson county in the Legislature, came near losing a case in his own county, because of the large number of witnesses arrayed against him by the opposing counsel, who claimed that the case should be decided by the preponderance of evidence in favor of his client, as the witnesses outnumbered the Colonel's four to one, but the Colonel in the reply said: "The preponderance of evidence is not measured by the quantity of witnesses but by the quality of their testimony; for one may tell the truth and the other ninety-nine may have been mistaken."

Speaking to his people, a minister once said: "Some preachers get up and say very little but mean a great deal; but I say a great deal that don't amount to nothing."

Both these incidents are well illustrated in the Pollard-Breckinridge case on all points but one—these incidents are true.

Mr. Sam Tracy is sowing grass seed at Fleetwood farm.

Work of all kinds is starting up in Frankfort. Street railway line men and trackmen are all at work, while several saw-mills have started up, putting quite a number of men to work after a long season of enforced idleness, and the wise man gives his neighbor a written order on the boss for collection, while the foolish man works all week and then gets garnished.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stucker, of Shelby county, visited Miss Ann Tracy last Sunday.

The Ridge scribe thanks an unknown correspondent for the present of a picture which, as a work of art, lays the works of all the old masters in the shade. For accuracy of outline, brilliancy of color, choice of subject, light, shade and excellence of finish, Raphael, Titian, Angelo, and Correggio might have got some pointers by viewing this artistic gem, for they never painted anything like it. The verse of poetry that came with it—'but space forbids.

Mrs. Will Tracy, who has been very sick, is much better.

Mrs. Josie Riddle, of Shelby, visited Miss Ann Tracy last Sunday.

Little Mack Spaulding is in Louisville receiving medical treatment.

Mr. Joe Hunter Sheets and Miss Olla B. Suttles, of Benson, visited the family of Mr. James Tracy on Sunday last.

Mr. W. M. Crutcher is improving rapidly in health.

Mr. Will Pierce is getting his tobacco ready for shipment.

Mr. Joe Williams will soon remove with his family to Frankfort.

Mr. Newell Pierce is working for his brother on the Pence farm.

The Russell farm has been leased to Messrs. Gordon and Smith, of Henry county.

The "Recluse" is kept well posted by his friends in the outside world, judging by the easy manner in which he handles State and national affairs.

A True Friend.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed." Every family should be prepared to treat scalds, burns, bruises, wounds, cuts, &c., by keeping a box of Dr. Hale's Household Ointment handy. No other remedy gives such quick relief or exerts so soothing and healing effect. For irritated eyelids, sore nostrils, chapped lips and hands, rough skin, boils, felonias, sores, etc., nothing equals it. Price 25c. and 50c. at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store, c

Out Again.

Charley Johnson, the notorious burglar, who robbed the residence of Mrs. Mary S. Hendrick in this city several years ago, was sent to the penitentiary, made his escape, and was afterwards sent to the penitentiary in Kansas, for a crime committed in that State, made his escape from the prison at Emporia Monday night by sawing out.

Do You Want to Trade.

Anyone having a good, strong young work horse which he or she is willing to trade for a first-class buggy horse can find a man who wants to make a trade by calling on Sam Johnson, colored, east end of Second street, this city.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. French on Thursday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. French have a host of friends all over the State who wish them many more years of happiness with each other.

Matrimonial.

BACON SUTER—Miss Lulie B. Suter, daughter of Mr. J. A. Suter, of this city, and Mr. Ed Bacon, of this county, took the morning train for Louisville Thursday and on arrival in that city were married at the Palace Hotel by Dr. J. M. Weaver. There was no opposition to the match, the couple merely preferring to have the ceremony performed away from home. They returned here last night, and will reside on the farm of Mr. R. C. Steele, in the county, which has been rented by the groom.

CRAIG HEARN—Mr. Ab. Craig and Miss Jennette Hearn, both of Georgetown, were married in Louisville Tuesday. The young couple came to this city on Monday, giving out that they were coming down to attend the performance of the Black Crook, spent the night at Mr. Campbell Steele's and left the next morning for Louisville. There was no opposition to their marriage, and they only left home to avoid the publicity of a home wedding.

LAWRENCE-HANCOCK—Mr. Samuel Lawrence and Miss Louisa Hancock were married Tuesday near Peak's Mill.

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Smith:

Matthew Mozart and Julia Watkins.
Tim Carter to Hester Shields, colored.
Walter Williams to Fannie Loomis, colored.
Harry A. Rolio to Mattie Shields, colored.

Small Blaze.

A small fire on the roof of the house on the corner of Wilkinson and Wapping streets, occupied by Mr. Will P. Hudson, was the occasion of an alarm from box 32 about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The flames, which were caused by a defective flue, were soon extinguished by the department with but small damage to the building.

To ———.

Once my heart was young and tender,
Bruised by every angry word;
Knowing not the World of Splendor,
Or a life by Pleasure blunder.
Free as birds in summer winging,
Flying 'neath the shady trees;
Joy and comfort each day bringing,
Waiting peace each gentle breeze.
Bright was life—then in its morning,
Every breeze with sweetness fraught;
Seeking Truth and Evil scorning,
Loving all and envying naught.
Such is Youth—a tender flower,
Blooming 'neath the sun of Hope;
Thinking not that each short hour,
Nears that sun its western slope.
But the winter's snows have fallen—
Disappointments, sorrows, care;
Each from life a joy hath stolen,
Leaving traces cold and bare.
Yet 'midst the wreck one rose is blooming,
Last of all it stands alone,
And the sweetness from its coming
O'er Despair a joy hath thrown.
Why should the tiny seed have flourished?
Dropped perhaps in idle play;
Yet by Fate it has been nourished,
Growing stronger, day by day.
Come, the sunbeams faint and slanting,
Tell the closing of the day;
Pluck the rose—THOU didst the planting—
Ere it too shall pass away, C. L.

General Comment.

Senator Hill's easy victory in the Peckham case was rather in the nature of a surprise to the Cleveland worshippers, many of whom had freely predicted that the Senator would succeed in digging his political grave by his continued opposition to the nominees of the President. The fate of Conkling was held up as a warning against Senatorial interference in nominations; the late elections were drawn upon for arguments of waning popularity with the people; but refusing to be frightened, Mr. Hill kept on the even tenor of his way and carried his point. Not merely as regards Peckham was he successful, but he showed the President that the nominee must be an active partisan to have his nomination confirmed. Mr. Cleveland promptly accepted the situation, and on Monday sent to the Senate the name of Senator White, of Louisiana. Immediate confirmation was given and at last the vacancy on the Supreme bench is filled. It is interesting to note, however, that both of the Kentucky Senators disregarded the action of the Lower House of the Legislature, and voted for the confirmation of Peckham. This is rather discouraging to those ambitious States politicians who wish to take a hand in national affairs.

The policy of the President in his nominations is a rather peculiar one. Since Andrew Jackson first started the plan of filling all the offices with the adherents of the party in power, no Chief Executive has dared go as far toward non-partisan appointments as Mr. Cleveland. Unfortunately, however, all of his nominations which were not dictated by party policy seem to have been made from purely personal motives or regard. It is questionable which of the two is to be preferred. In the case of Peckham, particularly, his chief claim to distinction was his active participation in the famous "Anti-Snapper Convention." Certainly neither public nor party good demanded his elevation to the office for which he was nominated; therefore it was simply owing to his personal acceptability to Mr. Cleveland that he was named. Mr. Hill's motive for opposition may not have been a worthy one, but it was as easily defensible as the President's persistence in the effort to benefit his personal friends. The President goes too far to be a strict partisan, and not far enough to be independent of party. Hence he loses the support of Democrats without gaining that of Republicans.

It is a pity that the exigencies of modern politics will not allow the Executive to choose his advisers from the leaders of both parties, as was done by the first and greatest of our Presidents. If the world were searched two men could not be found of more opposite politics than were Jefferson and Hamilton; yet they were selected by Washington for the two most important posts in his cabinet. Gresham and Carlisle may have some different opinions, but they are in accord on most questions of public policy; and hence Mr. Cleveland loses the benefit of opposite arguments. It was Washington's habit to obtain the opinions of both Jefferson and Hamilton, and balance them against each other before making a decision. The policy of the departments is controlled by the executive, not by the head of that department; why, then, is it necessary to have a cabinet "strictly in accord with its chief?" Should not care be taken, rather, that some counter opinions be offered, lest action be taken without sufficient consideration of the opposite side of the case?

As I predicted last week, it seems to be definitely settled that Kentucky River will get but a meagre appropriation—$130,000 being the figures as last given out. While it is to be regretted that a sum large enough to insure the early completion of this work could not be secured, yet it is manifestly unfair to lay the blame on the River and Harbor Committee. The Committee had a hard task before it, and all circumstances considered it was inevitable that some sections should be disappointed. As said in my last letter, those appropriations which were most emphatically demanded by members of Congress were the ones which the Committee considered it most advisable to give. By the time the next Congress meets however, it is more than probable that the entire complexion of affairs will be so altered that the efforts of the Citizens' Committee will be crowned with success. At any rate the organization should be kept up, ready to take advantage of every chance to put in a word where it will do the most good.

The defence in the Pollard-Breckinridge suit seems determined to stop at nothing to prove the previous unchastity of the plaintiff. The testimony of Dr. T. M. Lewis, taken at Danville, goes further, perhaps, than anything else. Upon the merest possibility that the woman in that case, whom he never saw and whose first name he never heard, was the same as Miss Madeline Pollard, the Doctor drags the name of the late Col. A. M. Swope from the grave to figure in the scandal. If anything could be proved against Miss Pollard's character, it would seem that it could be done without such evidence as this, which is, in the main, merely the conjecture of one man. Dr. Lewis may be, as stated, an honorable gentleman, who regretted to speak in the matter; we do not know him, and give him the benefit of the doubt when he says motives of conscience only prompted him to make known his professional secrets which reflected upon the character of his deceased friend; but his conscience, in such event, must be strangely warped. If there were any certainty that the Miss Pollard of whom Col. Swope spoke to him is Madeline Pollard, it would have been his duty to speak; but upon the merest suspicion that such was the case, was not his first duty rather to the memory of Col. Swope? Col. Breckinridge will gain nothing from such testimony as this, and may lose much where he can least afford it—in the minds of the people.

Announcement.

No apology is necessary on the score of medical propriety for thus announcing to the profession and the public, that we have made a long, careful and special study of cancerous diseases, together with all malignant and other tumors, and are able to offer the results of our extensive experience in Kentucky and surrounding countries in a system of rational and successful treatment, that we believe has never heretofore been attained, and we are able to point to thousands of successful cases—not in a boasting, but rather in a spirit of thankfulness, that we are thus able to prove so clearly our assertion; that our system does cure cancer. With a positive knowledge of this fact now so fully endorsed by thousands of sufferers, and approved by the profession, we should be wanting in humanity if we neglected any means in our power to spread the glad tidings among those afflicted with this most terrible and hopeless of diseases.

We have printed a pamphlet giving the symptoms, cause, varieties, &c., of cancers and tumors. Anyone feeling interesting can get a copy free by addressing,

CLOSE OBSERVER.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contains Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Sold by Druggists, price 75 per bottle.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

FURNISHED BY GLOVER & DURRETT, LOUISVILLE TOBACCO WAREHOUSE.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 4,973 hds., with receipts for the same period of 4,345 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 30,085 hds. Sales of the crop of 1899 on our market to this date amount to 34,920 hds.

Sales were again large for the week. As compared with last week all grades of bright or colory burley were more active and showed a tendency toward higher values. The medium, good and fine grades of red leaf were at times irregular and some easier. The very common grades, such as are selling under $8, were more active.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco (1899 crop):

Trash (dark or damaged)	$2 50@	$3 50
Common Colory trash.....	3 50@	4 00
Medium to good colory trash.....	4 50@	7 50
Common lugs not colory.....	4 00@	5 00
Common Colory lugs.....	6 00@	7 00
Medium to good colory lugs.....	7 00@	9 00
Common to medium leaf.....	8 00@	11 00
Medium to good leaf.....	11 00@	15 00
Good to fine leaf.....	15 00@	18 00
Select or wrapper.....	19 00@	21 50

Mr. Albert Favorite, of Arkansas City, Kan., wishes to give our readers the benefit of his experience with colds. He says: "I contracted a cold early last spring that settled on my lungs, and had hardly recovered from it when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a hacking cough which I thought I never would get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had left me, and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to others, and all speak well of it." 50 cent bottles for sale by P. H. CARPENTER, South Side Druggist.

To Arkansas and Texas.

Feb. 13, March 13, April 10 and May the 8th the Ky. Midland will sell tickets to points in Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana, at one fare for the round trip. See agents for further information.
